It is explained in the order, a copy of which reached the Adjutant-General's office yesterday, that this is done to bring the chief of the division into more appropriate military relations with respect to the chief of staff, and is construed to mean that added dignity is given to militia matters. It is provided that the order does not modify any existing rules and regulations nor the status of papers referring to the expenditure of money on account of the organized militia.

AROUND THE HOTELS

"To believe the assassin's bullet has made a President." said T. R. Smithson, of New York, in Richmond last night. "Mayor Gaynor's nomination by the Democrats, and his election, seem to me to be the surest dope in the political world at this time.

"In the first place, it has brought the Mayor vastly more in the limelight than he was theretofore. Everybody has read about the attempted assassination, and has ben perforce obliged to read the nice things which have been said about his official record. The impression which this will leave is illicity to be lasting.

"Then, it looks as though he will be the Democratic nomines for Governor. He is easily the most available man, and whether he wants it or not, the nomination is likely to be thrust upon. Murphy evidently wants to got rid of him, and the people want him.

"If Gaynor is nominated he will be elected Governor by an overwhelming majority. Nobody in New York now thinks or talks anything else except certain, overwhelming, almost annihilating defeat for the Republicans in that State in November.

"The result of a sweeping victory in New York would bring Mayor Gaynor immediately and prominently to the front in the public mind as a presidential possibility. When the next Democratic National Convention meets he would be there with the votes of many States pledged and would probably be an easy winner.

"Tastly, if nominated he will be cleaved. Any Democrat can win in 1912, and Gaynor would make the victory all the more complete and deciding a fersion—Mr. and Mrs. 3d. A. Bell, petersburg: B. J. Carr. Alexandria;
